Insiders' Tips on Making Your Visit More Pleasant

These suggestions will help save time, energy and footsteps while you enjoy all there is to see and do during your visit to Disneyland.

Attractions

No matter what the season, the best time to see Disneyland's most popular "E" attractions is early in the day (before Noon) or just before Park closing. Let the descriptions listed on pages 7-25 help you decide which attractions you wish to see. We suggest you begin with a train trip around the Magic Kingdom, and then proceed to the attractions of your choice using the inside map as a guide. Your ticket books will enable you to experience a variety of attractions and adventures. And, for your convenience, tickets may be purchased at ticket booths in each of Disneyland's seven theme lands. If waiting lines are long, don't forget to see the free attractions and exhibits, and the many live shows presented each day at Disneyland.

Dining

Disneyland offers a variety of restaurants and refreshment centers, certain to please any taste or appetite! Busy lunch and dinner hours during the summer or holiday periods may be avoided by having an early or late lunch (11:30 AM or 1:30 PM) and dinner (4:30 or 8:00 PM), depending upon Park operating hours.

Shopping

You'll find everything in Disneyland from souvenirs to antiques. We suggest you shop in the early morning or mid-afternoon to avoid busy "last minute" shopping conditions when the Park is closing. Rather than carry your purchases throughout the entire day, you may wish to check them in our locker facility located between the Fire Station and the Emporium off Town Square on Main Street, U.S.A.

Parades

Disneyland parades are featured throughout the year on Main Street, U.S.A. During our busy Summer Season, you may wish to find a viewing spot one-half hour before the parade begins along the route specified in the daily Park program.

Re-Entry to Disneyland

If you wish to leave Disneyland and return during Park operating hours on the same day, you must have your hand stamped at the exit turnstiles. You may re-enter the parking lot, free of charge, during Park operating hours on the same day if you retain your parking ticket and present it at the Parking Lot Entrance upon your return. Disneyland Hotel guests and visitors, exiting by way of the Disneyland Monorail, must also have their hands stamped as they exit the Monorail to obtain re-entry during Park operating hours on the same day. (Note: Return trip by Monorail will require an "E" ticket). 🐻

It's Our Year
And It's Your Year Too!

On July 17, 1955, Disneyland opened and fulfilled Walt Disney's dream of creating a place where families and people from all walks of life could have fun together. Since opening day, guests from across the country and around the world have done just that, while sharing in the magic of the Happiest Place on Earth with Mickey, Minnie, Donald, Pluto, Goofy and the many thousands of Disneyland employees. We've all grown up together, and because you're a special part of our family, we're glad to welcome you to the Family Reunion, in celebration of Disneyland's 25th Birthday.

Return visitors will find that things aren't exactly as they remember them: the skyline has changed, there's many a new adventure to experience and exciting ideas and plans are looming on the horizon. But, Walt's original dream and purpose remain the same. And, the Disneyland story is still best told by Walt himself.

"Almost everyone warned us that Disneyland would be a Hollywood spectacular—a spectacular failure. But we believed in our idea—a family park where parents and children could have fun together."

"Disneyland will sometimes be a fair...an exhibition...a playground...a community center...a museum of living facts...and a showplace of beauty and magic."

"In the winter time you can go out there during the week and you won't see any children. You'll see the oldsters out there riding all these rides and having fun."

"Disneyland is like Alice stepping through the looking glass... like entering another world."

"When I started on Disneyland, my wife used to say, 'But why do you want to build an amusement park? They're so dirty!' I told her that was just the point—mine wouldn't be."

"...it all started from a daddy with two daughters wondering where he could have a little fun with them, too."

TIPS FOR BETTER DISNEYLAND PICTURES

Before You Shoot

1. Make sure your camera is clean. Clean the lens by first blowing off the dust, then moistening and wiping gently with a soft tissue. Clean the inside of the camera by blowing out any dust; wipe the picture-taking rollers of instant cameras.

2. Make sure your film is fresh. The expiration date is stamped on the box.

3. Check the batteries and battery contacts, a large cause of picture-taking failure. (Note: This is not necessary in Polaroid SX-70, Pronto and One-Step cameras because a fresh battery is contained in each SX-70 film pack.)

4. If you think your camera isn't working properly, don't waste film or flash. Visit the Polaroid Camera Center, Main Street, U.S.A., for advice and/or the free loan of a Polaroid Pronto "Sonar" automatic focusing camera.

When You Shoot

1. Stand so that the light falling on the subject comes from behind you, or from the side. Remember, if the sun is shining in your eyes (and the camera's electric eye) the scene will probably come out too dark in your picture.

2. When in doubt about the light, use flash* keeping in mind the maximum flash range of the camera. With some cameras (Polaroid SX-70 type cameras, for example), you can automatically blend flash with daylight to soften deep shadows and improve pictures made in the shade or against the light.

3. Don't attempt a picture closer than about 4', or a flash picture farther than about 12', except with 35mm and SX-70 cameras.

4. Try to fill the viewfinder with as much of the subject as possible. The larger the subject, the more interesting your picture will be!

5. Keep the background simple. Try to avoid distracting objects in the foreground and background objects that appear to "grow out" of the subject.

6. Hold the camera steady. Gently squeeze the shutter button; do not "punch" the button.

Let action help make your pictures interesting. And remember to use flash when trying to stop action, or anytime the light is dim.

Keep the background simple and complementary. For flash pictures avoid excessively dark or distant background.

More picture and movie-making help — as well as film, flash and free Polaroid cameras on loan — is available from the Polaroid Camera Center, Main Street, U.S.A.

Move in for good people pictures. Details and expressions will be sharper and clearer.

TIPS FOR BETTER DISNEYLAND MOVIES

1. Check the batteries in your camera. If you are going to film more than one cassette, it's good to have spare batteries with you.

2. You can create more interesting movies by thinking of a "theme" in advance—"A Tour Down Main Street, U.S.A.," for example. With planning, you'll find the three-minute average cassette length just about right.

3. Shoot with the sun behind you or to your side. If you shoot into the sun, you'll probably fool the camera's electric eye and the scene will end up too dark.

4. Try to have all your subject matter lit evenly. Otherwise, very bright or dark areas may fool the electric eye and result in an over or under exposed scene.

5. Use the zoom lens sparingly and only when it contributes to a scene. Too much zooming in and out will be distracting to your viewers.

6. Move the camera sideways (panning) very slowly (about half as fast as you're inclined). If you pan too fast, your movie will appear blurred.

7. Shoot each scene for at least 5 seconds. Be sure to include "establishing shots" (overall views, signs, etc.) as well as family action.

8. If you are using a Polavision instant movie camera, be sure to take your cassette to the Polaroid Camera Center where you can view the movies you took today on the spot.

(If you don't have a Polavision camera, see the back cover for details on the Camera Shop's free trial offer.)
